

Avitech relaunches its electrolyte brand Avilyte

Avitech Nutrition has this summer season, relaunched its brand of Electrolyte - Avilyte in two variants viz Avilyte FS, the feed supplement version and Avilyte WS, the water soluble version. With the advent of summer, stress management within the flock is critical for poultry. The objective of relaunching this unique blend of electrolytes containing citrate, bicarbonate, phosphates alongwith vitamin C, is based on the variability in demand characteristics of the end user.

For the large scale integrators of the poultry industry, where preventive stress management is vital covering a wide geographical base of numerous farms, a specially designed feed supplement version called Avilyte FS version takes care of stress related issues. Here it is through the feed, that the effects of heat stress are adequately addressed. Whereas for local farm level usage, the conventional water soluble version i.e Avilyte WS remains the preferred choice.

Avilyte represents an optimum electrolyte supplement providing pre controlled relief (through feed) as well as an immediate relief (through water) during stress in the flock, thus ensuring optimum production and performance.
